Local Officials Endorse Robertson for Michigan Senate

City, Township officials support Grand Blanc Republican

The Dave Robertson for State Senate campaign announced today the endorsement of four key local leaders in his bid for the Michigan Senate in the Genesee and northern Oakland County's 26th State Senate District.

The local officials are Groveland Township Supervisor Bob DePalma, Thetford Township Supervisor Clyde Howd, Davison Mayor Fred (Mac) Fortner, and Springfield Township Supervisor Mike Trout.

"I'm very honored and excited to have the support of these local elected leaders," Robertson said. "Our mayors and township officials are on the frontlines of the problems confronting our state, and I am grateful that they would entrust me to represent their communities in Lansing."

Thetford Township Supervisor Clyde Howd stated that, "Dave Robertson's years of experience as both a Genesee County Commissioner and State Representative make him ideally qualified to be our next State Senator. His lifetime of commitment to public service makes him the best choice."

Groveland Township Supervisor Bob DePalma added, "Dave Robertson is sensitive to the needs of Groveland Township residents. I know he will seek the advice of, and work with, local leaders in representing our interests in Lansing."

"I've known Dave Robertson for many years and I'm happy to endorse his candidacy," said Davison Mayor Fred "Mac" Fortner. "He is a man of honesty and integrity, committed to traditional values."

DePalma, Fortner, Howd, and Trout join a growing list of local officials and citizens that have endorsed Dave Robertson's candidacy for the 26th Senate District, including Oakland County Commissioners Tom Middleton, Jim Runestad, and John Scott.
